Sorry, your session has expired.

Internet latency, slow websites and excessive load times are some of the most common reasons for failed customer-transactions.

However, your customers don't have to go through this anymore.

Increase Trading Volume – Accelerate Online Brokerage

Your investors are liable to be frustrated when prices change between quote and buy. Hence, your business can't afford dropping trades because of Internet latency. When markets are volatile and internet traffic is high, your business can suffer undue losses. With Akamai, your online trading performance can rise by 50% which will reduce the number of dropped trades. In effect, your business can cut significant delays & wait times and leapfrog in competition.

Maximize Customer Acquisition – Speed Account Opening Process

It's been found that 4% of retail consumers opening an account online abandon the process for performance related reasons. With all your investment to drive customers to your online application process, you cannot afford to let customers walk out the door because of Internet latency. With Akamai, you can speed up the account opening process and witness an incredible increase in the number of completed applications.
